An open letter to the citizens of Crawford County:

Michigan Week 1965 has now come and gone. As Chairman for Crawford County I would like to extend my personal thanks to the many who contributed to make it a successful observance.

There is no doubt that the Governor of our State received a favorable impression of our communities. The Cavalcade of Progress gave ample evidence of the vitality and progressiveness of the people of Crawford County. Although smaller than many other counties of the state in numbers we need not take a back seat to any in quality. This is due to the work, the interest and the co-operative spirit of you—the citizens of the county.

We thank every one who helped—our newspaper, our businessmen, city and county officials, school students, ladies of the community and many others too numerous to mention individually. You can be proud to be not only a citizen of Michigan but a citizen of Crawford County.

Sincerely,
Harry E. Travis, Chairman
Michigan Week, Crawford County

Meet To Discuss Proposed Consolidation

On Monday evening, May 25th, Dr. Roger Bolin of the State Department of Public Instruction, Lansing was in attendance at a joint meeting of members of the county intermediate school districts, boards of Crawford, Ogemaw, Osoda and Roscommon Counties for the purpose of discussing the proposed consolidation of the four counties on which citizens will be asked to vote at the annual school election June 14th.

Basil Godbold, county superintendent, called the meeting with the intent of informing the local news-media and enlisting their help in explaining the facts to the voters.

The consolidation would be in compliance with the 1962 Intermediate School District Law (Act 190) with its amendments of 1963 and 1964 which requests that counties unite to accomplish intermediate school districts that will represent at least five thousand students. This is the number they feel is necessary for the most economical employment of special teachers and services.

THE intermediate boards (formerly known as county boards) came into being at a time when there were many school districts within one county. They are staffed by representatives of each of the local school districts involved. Members of the Crawford County Board are LeRoy Millikin, William Joseph, Pat Harwood, Ace Leng and Norval Stephan. The purpose of the board is to act as a correlative group between the several local school boards within a county and the State Department of Public Instruction to handle mutual problems as they apply to the local districts and the State Department thus eliminating a possible duplication of effort on the part of all concerned.

As local school districts have combined within the counties the need for so many county intermediate boards is vanishing, so the consolidation, hopefully an economical move, is proposed.

The board members of the four county intermediate school districts involved are unanimously in favor of the consolidation. They stress there is no additional millage involved nor will the consolidation eliminate local school districts and their local boards. Rather it will set up an educational service agency to do each of these school districts. The consolidation is supposed to provide educational programs from an intermediate school district office for a four-county area that are not deemed practical or economically feasible within the single county district.

A motion was made by Madsen and supported by Broadbent that the following Resolution be adopted:

The City of Grayling resolves:

That Maryland Casualty Company having on February 17, 1965, served the City of Grayling with notice that it demands that all remaining contract payments owed to Pierce Construction Company be paid to Maryland Casualty Company, as surety for Pierce Construction Company, and

WHEREAS, Maryland Casualty Company, having heretofore agreed to hold the City of Grayling harmless from loss, cost and expense which may arise to the City of Grayling by payment of any sums to suppliers or sub-contractors of Pierce Construction Company, and the City of Grayling having accordingly, paid to Central Paving Company the sum of $6,419.70 in reliance upon the promise of said Maryland Casualty Company, and the City of Grayling deeming itself insecure by reason of such payment and the prior Notice of Levy from the United States Treasury Department Internal Revenue Service made on March 11, 1965, and second levy on said City on May 17, 1965, and

WHEREAS, The City of Grayling

having been notified that the following suppliers and sub-contractors of Pierce Construction Company are at present unpaid in the following amounts:

Alcona Asphalt Paving Co., $1,450.00; Jack Millikin, $3,497.65; Russ & Dick's Excavating Co., $564.00; City of Grayling 541.24; D & L Contractors, $315.00; Welsh Ford Sales & Service, $471.15; Madsen Lumber Co., $70.22.

WHEREAS, That Pierce Construction Company is in default in its contract with the City of Grayling for failure to pay the above named suppliers and sub-contractors of Pierce Construction Company to complete the necessary paper work required by the office of the Housing and Home Finance Agency to close out the project and demand is hereby made that Maryland Casualty Company pay such suppliers and sub-contractors as surety for Pierce Construction Company, and that Maryland Casualty Company hold the City of Grayling harmless from any such claims and expenses, and

WHEREAS, That Maryland Casualty Company re-imburse the City of Grayling the sum of $6,419.70, said sum being the payment heretofore, made by the City of Grayling to Central Paving Company at the request of Maryland Casualty Company, and,

THEREFORE, that the City of Grayling hereby notifies Maryland Casualty Company that it will not pay said Maryland Casualty Company any sums which may be owed to it by reason of its assignment of accounts from Pierce Construction Company—unless and until Maryland Casualty Company furnishes the City of Grayling with sufficient proof that the above named suppliers and sub-contractors of Pierce Construction Company have been paid in full for their services and supplies and the Notice of Levy from the United States Treasury Department Internal Revenue Service made on March 11, 1965, and May 17, 1965, has been released and removed to the satisfaction of the City of Grayling.

I, Harold S. Clift, duly appointed City Clerk for the City of Grayling, Michigan,

PONY TALES

By Janet Olson

Spring is the start of the year for horse and pony owners, with a thousand and one things to do. Grooming away what seems to be a ton of heavy winter coat, checking feet, getting tack ready, and the fun of waiting for new foals. Spring may also mean the answer to a dream of most children for a pony of their own. Let's discuss what to think about and look for when buying a "first" pony for a child.

First do you have a comfortable and safe place to keep a pony? A small pony, like a Shetland, needs little space. A fenced-in yard with some shade will do nicely. Some type of shelter should be provided, but it need not be fancy or expensive. A three-sided shed is enough. Try to have your shed face the South, but make it deep enough so that the animal can be out of the sun.

How much you pay for a pony is up to you, but beware of the so-called "bargain pony" especially for an inexperienced child. First and foremost look for a pony with "manners". The pony's conformation, his general appearance and build, aren't nearly as important for a child just starting. When you have a pony in mind let your child handle him thoroughly, put on the halter, turn him around in the stall, lift all four feet and lead him back and forth for a while. Know that this pony can be trusted with your child. A young pony, like a young child, is full of mischief and fun, hence, it is wise to look at the five, six and even seven-year olds. Don't make the mistake of feeling that because the pony you have in mind has been owned by children before it must be all right for your children. Be sure that the pony hasn't been teased or mistreated. It's fun to carry a pocket full of grain and to give your pony a treat each time you pass his gate, but these treats may make a pony nip the next child to pause and pat him as he will be expecting a treat. I have seen children chase a pony across a field and then turn and let the pony chase them.

A game for someone who knows what's going on, but a pony charging at you across a field can be a very frightening experience for a child who now owns the pony, and doesn't know that the pony was taught to do this. Bad habits take a long time to break, and sometimes are impossible to overcome. So choose a pony who has been handled well and taught "manners" from the start.

HINT FOR THE WEEK — Be sure and watch your pony's water supply very carefully now that our warm weather has started. Remember that your pony can go longer without food than he can without water.

Taxpayer Revolt Approaching . . .

All around the country, the state legislatures have been meeting this year to the dismay of many a humble taxpayer. For there is hardly a state that isn't searching for new or increased sources of revenue. Sales taxes, income taxes, property taxes, liquor and cigarette taxes, gasoline taxes—the trend in all is upward. So, the taxpayers may begin to pay much closer attention to what their legislators ask and want and do than has been the case in the past. According to Newsweek, "Together, the 50 states (and localities) will spend upwards of $70 billion this year (and are expected to match total Federal outlays by 1970) for programs and services that sometimes meet the test of adequacy but seldom the test of excellence."

The problem is one that may be described as a mixture of quantity and quality. On the one hand there is the matter of how much state and local government can and should do—and on the other the matter of how efficiently they do it. And there certainly is a limit to how much money can be bled from the taxpayers—a limit we are approaching if we haven't actually reached it.

Don't Broadcast Your Residue . . .

Those who are prone to throw litter along the highways should read the following about those who care and do something in their own field to prevent pollution and destruction of natural beauty.

Texaco, Inc., has adopted procedures which will eliminate contamination of oceans resulting from discharge of oil and waste from its tankers, says Vice President James V. C. Malcolmson, in charge of the company's Marine department. The procedure requires the collection of salt water washings from crude oil ballast tanks; separation of the washings by gravitation; and either loading new cargo on top of the crude oil residue or pumping this residue ashore into disposal tanks.

As the land becomes more crowded, each of us has a greater responsibility to practice good litter disposal habits. Residue in cars such as beer cans, bottles, garbage, etc., should be retained and disposed of properly for the sake of health, recreation and good manners.

Twilight Twirlers
Twenty members of the Twilight Twirlers marched in the Memorial Day parade on May 29th. Marching were: Debbie Miller, Pennie Taylor, Elizabeth Halstead, Marie McIsaac, Debbie and Nancy Bartholomew, Janie, Buron, Paula Powers, Arvilla Galvani, Jackie Hull, Ellen Root, Kathy Kelly, Becky Hume, Carol Mitchell, Geallann Kettler, Diane and Karen Latuszek, Susan Meoak, Debra Laurent, and Teresa Stephan. Debbie Miller led the unit to the cemetery and Marie McIsaac led on the way back to the Legion.

Debbie Miller wore the new hat that was received last week. It is hoped that sometime in the not too far future the senior unit will have the same type of hat.

The "Work A Day for J.F.K." has been postponed for a couple weeks as the past weekend was so busy. The money raised at the bake sale will be added to whatever is made at that time. Watch for posters.

Nancy Brown and Debbie Miller have completed their gold stars on the chart and will begin new work on more twirls for marching. Pennie Taylor will be joining them soon as she has only one star to go. These girls and any members who enter the gold star group later will be featured with the unit and will do more twirling. Debbie Bartholomew, Elizabeth Halstead, and Marie McIsaac have all their silver stars and are beginning on the next set.

Look in the window of Miller Hardware for a poster with the upcoming parades the unit is scheduled to be in.

Guard To Head Defense In Attack

All Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps Active and Reserve forces assigned to support State Civil Defense in a nuclear attack will come under the direction of the Michigan National Guard, Colonel Clarence C. Schimpke, Acting The Adjutant General of Michigan, announced today.

Assignment of military support of Civil Defense functions to the National Guard results from a Department of the Army plan approved recently by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. A total of five additional full-time officers and enlisted men are being added to the National Guard State Headquarters at Lansing. They will have the status of National Guard technicians, and will be paid from Federal funds. In the event of nuclear attack, the planning staff and other elements of the Army and Air National Guard State Headquarters will be ordered to active duty under the Adjutant General or an alternate designated by the State.

HORNBURG - SHERWIN WED IN PAW PAW

The marriage of Miss Ruth Elizabeth Hornburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodor Hornburg of Gobles, Michigan, to Mr. Donald Dana Sherwin, Jr., son of the Donald Sherwins of Riverside, Grayling, took place at three o'clock on Saturday, May 29th, 1965, at the Trinity Lutheran church in Paw Paw, Michigan. The Reverend A.
Bettermann officiated at the double-ring ceremony before two hundred fifty guests. White carnations and gladioli graced the altar and white lace bows adorned the pews. Mrs.
David Carlson was organist and Miss Patricia Nofsinger flautist.
The processional was Bach's "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring" and the recessional "Bach's Trumpet Voluntary."

A gown of silk organza over taffeta was the bride's choice for her wedding. It was fashioned with a portrait "Bertha" collar applied with Venice lace above a longsleeved fitted bodice. The full skirt terminated in a chapel train. Her bouffant veil of imported English silk illusion fell from a coronet of pearl orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of butterfly orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Hornburg of Hilton, New York, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Bradley of Gobles, and Mrs. Larry Lizotte of Big Rapids. The bride's niece, Tanya Verenia Hornburg, was flower girl.
Their costumes carried out the all-white theme, being styled in floor-length white dotted Swiss over taffeta with portrait neckline, the waists accented with taffeta sashes.
They wore daisy wreath head-pieces in shades of pink. Their flowers were daisies and trailing ivy bouquets.

Gary Sherwin of Big Rapids was best man for his brother. Groomsmen were Thomas Shilling of Ash-lan, Ohio, Dean Wheaton, Moga-dore, Ohio, Edward Lee of Bay City and Donval Hornburg, brother of the bride, of Hilton, N. Y.

Mrs. Hornburg chose an aqua crepe dress with matching lace coat, shoes and hat for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Sherwin wore beige raw silk with matching coat and accessories.

A buffet supper and reception in the church reception hall followed the wedding. Afterwards the bride changed to a pale yellow suit costume for her going-away attire, and the couple left for a northern Michigan honeymoon. They will reside at 1107 Maiden Lane in Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Sherwin has attended the University of Sheffield in England, earned her B. A. degree at the University of Michigan and is working on a master's in comparative education there. She is also a fourth grade teacher in the Ann Arbor public schools. Mr. Sherwin has attended Michigan State University and is a senior at the University of Michigan Dental School, Ann Arbor. He is a member of Delta Sigma Delta dental fraternity.

Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Haas of Cologne, Germany, were among the guests.

Flower Committee Expresses Thanks

We especially wish to thank Mahan Riker of Riker Building Supplies for donating his truck and driver to go to Bay City to pick up 200 flats of petunias, also Charles Fick of Standard Oil who furnished the gas for the trip. This saved us a considerable amount.

Thanks to Jack Millikin for 25 yards of top soil and to the boys from Camp LaVetiere who spaded the soil, and to the City crew for extra hours in getting the soil in shape to plant. We also thank Bear Archery and all the merchants and individuals who donated to make up the money for flowers. We are still short $40.00 and would appreciate any donations anyone can make. Even, 50¢ a person will help.

This project ought not to be the sole responsibility of the City or the merchants as we all enjoy the flowers and each of us ought to take a personal pride in helping with them.

It was very rewarding to see people, age 7-to-75, turn out Monday to plant petunias. By all working together we accomplished the planting real fast and also promoted our City far and near as many people passing through Grayling couldn't help but notice what a lot of "Community Pride" the citizens of Grayling show to spend a holiday making Grayling Beautiful.

Again thanks each and everyone who helped in anyway. Grayling Housing Comm., and The City of Grayling

Flood of Marriages Looms in County Local Cancer Rate Below Average

(Special to the Avalanche)

NEW YORK — Crawford County will be witnessing a sharp increase during the next few years in the number of its young people who will be getting married.

The reason is that there has been a pronounced rise in the young adult population.

According to figures released by the U. S. Census Bureau, there are now no less than 370 young men and women in the local area who are in the prime marrying ages, 20 to 24. This considerably more than were in that age bracket five years ago.

The prospect of these approaching marriages is a happy one all around. But none are happier about them than the local retail merchants. Their rapture is enhanced by the fact that each new wedding means a new household and each new household means thousands of dollars of new business.

In actual figures, according to surveys that have been made, an average of $1,200 is spent by a couple, or by their parents, on the engagement and wedding, and about $3,500 in the first year in equipping their home.

THE AMOUNT of potential spending in Crawford County, at this rate, based on 180 prospective marriages in the local group, comes to $846,000.

Few of these young people, just starting out, have the resources to handle such costs on their own. But they have a big plus going for them, as one economist put it.

They can count on an ample supply of financial assistance from their parents, who are prepared, in most cases, to help them through the early stages of getting settled.

All phases of the local economy stand to gain from the zip in business that this new spending will generate. Each new household will require rugs, furniture, pots and pans, dishes, linens, draperies, blankets, electrical equipment and the like.

The Government's figures also show that the number of young adults in Crawford County will be still larger next year and will increase for several years beyond that. In 1970, they will total 475.

were tied were already held by the boys that tied them. In dual competition the nine hole record of 39 was set by Cook in 1963 and tied by him this year and by Kyle Slusser in 1964 and this year. The 18 hole record of 79 was set by Cook this year to break the old record of 83 he held with Walt Fallon and Kyle Slusser. On three occasions this year the team total record was cut to its present level of 433.

At the regional Cook's 85 was a new low for regional action and the team total of 372 by Cook, Kyle and Dale Slusser and George Stancil was an improvement of the score shot last year by Slussers, Stancil and MacLeod.

Crawford County Avalanche

Thursday, June 3, 1965

according to the National Health Education Committee. It reports that more people than ever before are going for regular medical checkups and that, as a result, many cases are being detected early and cured.

It claims that a fourth of those who died of cancer could have been saved had there been a timely diagnosis and proper treatment given.

Significant progress has also been made by medical research teams, despite insufficient funds available for their work.

The committee states that only $154 million a year is provided for cancer research as compared with $482 million spent in the United States for greeting cards and $347 million for chewing gum.
